3 Property Market Value and Assessment History

What this section tells you

Properties in your township were last reassessed three years ago in 2021.

Cook County uses your property's Assessed Value and exemption to calculate the tax bill that will be issued in 2025.

Year	Class	Estimated Market Value	Total Assessed Value (AV) (10% of Market Value)
[YYYY]	[X-XX]	$[XXX,XXX]	$[XX,XXX]
[YYYY]	[X-XX]	$[XXX,XXX]	$[XX,XXX]
[YYYY]	[X-XX]	$[XXX,XXX]	$[XX,XXX]

The Assessor's Office administers property tax savings called Homestead Exemptions. These exemptions may lower your property tax bill and save you money. Listed below are the Homestead Exemptions your property received in the last five years.

Tax Year	Homestead (annual status renewed)	Senior (auto-renewed until tax year 2023)	Senior (owner)	Life (life)	Religious (owner)	Person with Disabilities (auto-renewed until tax year 2021)	Veterans with Disabilities
2022
2021
2020
2019
2018

Most homeowners qualify for the Homeowner Exemption. Most seniors over the age of 65 qualify for the Senior Exemption. Other exemptions have very specific eligibility requirements. To learn if your property qualifies for other exemptions or to apply for a Certificate of Error to correct a missing exemption, please visit cookcountyassessor.com/exemptions.

If you think your property got an exemption that it shouldn't have, you must report it to the Assessor's Office as soon as possible to correct any issues, pay the taxes owed, and avoid penalties. It is your responsibility to make sure your exemptions are correct.

Go to cookcountyassessor.com/erroneous-exemptions to complete an online form to report an exemption error.

What happens if I report an exemption error?

The Assessor's Office finds the difference between the amount you were actually billed and the amount you should have been billed. This difference is called the principal. The Assessor's Office will send you a bill for what you owe and any fees, interest, or penalties. Here's how the Assessor's Office calculates the bill:

If you received 1 or 2 erroneous homestead exemptions during any of the 3 years before the current tax year...

you will get a bill to pay the principal amount of any erroneous exemptions PLUS 10% interest for each year or part of year with an erroneous exemption.

If you received 3 or more erroneous homestead exemptions during any of the 6 years before the current tax year...

you will get a bill to pay the principal amount of any erroneous exemptions PLUS 10% interest for each year or part of year with an erroneous exemption, PLUS a penalty of 50% of any principal.

BUT, if you voluntarily report to the Assessor's Office that you received erroneous exemptions...

then you will only have to pay the principal and interest and not the penalty. You have 60 days from the date of this notice to contact the Assessor's Office. There are also penalty exceptions for relatives and legatees of a previous taxpayer who recently acquired title to the property.

This information is based on your tax bills for the above-referenced years. Exemptions obtained by certificate of error are not reflected above. The Illinois Property Tax Code (Section 9-275) allows the Assessor's Office to charge taxpayers the exemption principal amount as well as penalties, interest, and administrative costs. The Office can also file a lien on the property if fees are not paid.
